The Chinese Communist Army Engineering Corps, in order to decrease United Nation bombing threats against P'yongyang where major Chinese and Korean organizations are concentrated, have constructed a dummy city nearby which might confuse attacking bombers. This dummy city is about 5 kilometers east of P'yongyang at Kammantong (坎南洞). This dummy city is an exact copy of the streets, general appearance, and extent of the P'yongyang City area and electric lights have been installed. If the United Nation Air Force attempts night bombing of P'yongyang, electric lights in P'yongyang will be extinguished and those in the dummy city will be switched on. Kammantong is on the banks of the Taedong-gang. During the day, telegraph poles, pillars and other targets of the dummy city can be observed.
